More than 1500 people, from all walks of life, attended the solemn high mass of requiem for Town Clerk James J. Golden at St. Agnes church Friday morning.

The number of mourners for the Town Clerk, who died last Tuesday, made the funeral the largest in Arlington's history.

More than 10,000 paid their respects at the McAvoy Funeral Home at 223 Massachusetts ave., during the two day wake.

The mass was sung by Rev. John Golden, C.S.P., brother of the beloved Town Clerk.

Honorary pallbearers were Town officials and representatives of the many organizations to which Mr. Golden belonged.

LWV To Query Local Shoppers

A gigantic shopping survey will get underway in Arlington next week.

Hundreds of housewives will have their buying habits examined and the results may have important implications for the future of Arlington Center.

Concern over the ever-rising tax rate and the need to broaden the tax base has stimulated the League of Women Voters into making this inquiry of consumer desires.

The answers which Arlington residents give to certain questions regarding where and why they shop may contribute needed information as to the direction of redevelopment plans.

The family shopper will be asked if she buys clothes, furnishings, appliances, etc. in Arlington, and if not, where and why.

Also sought after will be her opinion on the need for other kinds of shopping facilities in Arlington.

The survey has been planned under the direction of Mrs. David Ashton and Mrs. Donald Pettee, co-chairmen of the League's Local Affairs Committee.

They have used professional advice along each step of the way from drafting the consumer questions to the briefing of League members in interviewing techniques.

With the survey set to begin Thursday January 15, the chairmen hope to complete the interviewing of more than 500 family shoppers within the next two weeks.

Serving on the Local Affairs Committee are Mrs. Richard Bartholomew, Mrs. William Birchard, Mrs. Robert Dreyfus, Mrs. Chester Ginder, Mrs. Robert Govoni, Mrs. Charles Jacobsen, Mrs. Norman Jacobson.

Also Mrs. Andrew Magnus, Mrs. John O'Connell, Mrs. Charles Paskauskas, Mrs. W. A. Rivenburg, Mrs. Ascher Shapiro, Mrs. Arthur Saul, Mrs. Raymond Yeaton, and Mrs. William McMahon.

Arlington's political "experts" had a field day here this week as candidates for the coming Town Election flocked to the Town Clerk's office in droves to take out nomination papers.

Unexpected developments were reported so fast that observers are still whirling in an attempt to find out just who is running for what.

The tragic death of James J. Golden leaves the Town Clerk position open for one Four residents, who have been rumored as candidates for either Town Clerk or Selectmen, definitely stated they will not run yesterday afternoon in telephone conversations with the Advocate.

They are former Rep. Hollis M. Gott, J. Milton Washburn, William H. Farrow, and John J. Stanton.

year. Many candidates were expected to run for the one-year term.

But then, Selectmen Franklin W. Hurd announced that he will not seek reelection to the Board, and the rush was on.

Hurd already has taken out papers for Selectman, but is being rumored as a candidate for Clerk.

Candidates for Town Clerk who have already taken papers out are John Henry O'Brien of 319 Massachusetts ave., Robert L. O'Brien of 11 Warren st., and Ralph L. LaValle of 29 Crosby st.

Hurd had no sooner announced he was out of the Selectmen's race, than three candidates took out papers.

One is School Committee-man Charles R. Kent. The others are Philibert L. Pellegrini of 8 Mary st., chairman of the Board of Appeals, and James E. O'Rourke of 40 Teel st.

Another shocker was announced Tuesday when former Rep. Henry E. Keenan took out papers for assessor. Already circulating papers for Assessor are the present chairman, Walter S. Cooledge of 8 Devereaux st., and Robert B. Walsh of 89 Dow ave., formerly of 63 Marathon st. The School Committee is not missing in candidates (Continued on Page 3)

21 Rooms In Hardy School Ransacked During Holidays

Local Property Of Gas Company Sought By Town

Two officials of the Mystic Valley Gas Company met with the Committee on Garaging Town Owned Vehicles Saturday morning to discuss the possibilities of the Town acquiring the Gas Company property on Grove st.

The Gas Company is allowing the Town to garage vehicles in its property at the present time, but officials hope to buy the property outright.

Town Manager Edward C. Monahan said yesterday that the property, if acquired by the Town, could house all DPW offices and equipment, and offices and equipment of the Park and Tree Departments.

In addition, Monahan said, a huge chimney, which could be used toward a future incinerator, is on the property.

The next step will be a study of present conditions and area at the Gas Company property.

Company officials told the Town group that because of the increase in business, they were not sure of the eventual use of the building, but said the Company would be glad to discuss the matter with Town officials.

The Town Meeting appointed a committee consisting of Robert F. Douglas, Joseph P. Greeley, Frank Phillips, Tod Reenstierna and Clifford E. Lansil.

Thieves Get Nothing In 2 Center Breaks

Two Arlington Center business places were broken into this week but nothing appears to have been stolen.

Sunday evening someone forced his way into the Stanley Home Products Co., at 691 Massachusetts ave., by jimmying a door. Police reported nothing was taken.

Monday night, the Stork Club at 453 Massachusetts ave., was broken into, but again it was reported that nothing was taken.

The Hardy School on Lake street was broken into by vandals New Years Night and ransacked from top to bottom.

Police Chief Albert E. Ryan and Superintendent of Schools Clifford R. Hall said the vandals entered 21 rooms in the 24 room elementary school, smashing bulbs and equipment, and scattering paper and debris.

Although no official estimate of damage could be ascertained, Hall said it will probably range in "excess of $400.

Hall listed the most expensive damage as:

The smashing of three projector bulbs.

The scarring of a desk.

The breaking of parts of a film strip projector.

And the smashing of a large globe.

In addition, paper, rulers, and pencils were hurled to floors throughout the building.

Bookcases were overturned and their contents scattered about.

A box of fluorescent bulbs was rifled and the tubes broken into tiny pieces and ground into the floor.

The vandals entered the Principals office and tore report cards to bits.

Teacher desks were ransacked.

Crackers, distributed to youngsters during school, were crushed and scattered throughout.

According to Chief Ryan, entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass in the auditorium window and reaching through to unlock the window.

One youngster climbed through the window and dropped eight feet.

He then opened a door and allowed others to enter.

Maintenance crews were on the job all day Friday, cleaning in preparation for Monday's opening.

The Hardy school has been the target of vandals for years. Just this past summer, 55 windows were broken there in a single day.

Dr. Cath Car Looted

Dr. Stanley Cath, 36 Brunswick rd., reported to police Thursday that someone had broken into his car while it was parked in front of his home and had stolen a first aid kit, a pair of gloves, and several charge account cards to gas companies.

The loss was estimated at $25.

Town Wins Award

The Town of Arlington has been awarded the American Automobile Association's "Excellence of Record" award for the year 1957.

SMART LIVING VALUE DAYS

SMART LIVING

by
LEWIS GORDON
Gordon Furniture Co.

The first impression a guest receives in your home should be one of good living and warm welcome. Carpet in the entrance and on the stairs suggests a tasteful, comfortable house throughout. But more, it quiets the busy chatter of hello's and good-bye's and click of heels on stairs.

This quelling of noise is a boon to your guests and a blessing if there are small children asleep.

If you have more guests than chairs, the more casual ones will take to the warm, carpeted floor. This comfort and informality makes for easy conversation groups and a relaxed atmosphere.

Your hi-fi, radio or record player sound better, too, if insulated from floor vibrations with carpeting.

If you need advice or have any questions concerning carpeting, come in today and we'll be glad to help you. Remember, home means more with carpet on the floor. We will be more than happy to arrange long convenient terms.

Suburbia Today

The whole story is contained in the title—"SUBURBIA TODAY". Suburbia today is a way of life for 50,000,000. In another ten years, they say it will be 70,000,000.

Historians see the explosion to the suburbs as part of a revolution that has been going on in mid-century America, tending to enrich life for great numbers of people.

Financiers see the suburban boom as one of the stabilizer of our post war-economy, a vast outlet for goods and human services, from the bulldozer at the foundation to the flat of petunias and the charcoal grill ninety days later—and that, of course, is only the beginning.

Already novels and movies have come out of the country-wide migration from the cities, and new expressions have settled firmly into our language—"split level," "shopping center," "freeway," "town planning." "SUBURBIA TODAY" is a side effort of the migration, a new colorgrure supplement for suburban newspapers. The aim is, literally, to supplement local coverage.

What is happening in suburbia generally? What makes a day rewarding in spite of commuting and the price of eggs? How is it possible to bring the cost of building down? Are the teen-agers finding anything to approve of? How are PTA's solving the teacher shortage? What are people looking at, listening to, and laughing at?

What are the new ideas for living—the little sparks of imagination that light up house and home? "SUBURBIA TODAY" will be unique in that virtually every article will have some bearing on life in the suburban scene.

We know where to go for the answers...to the areas where ten million of the 50,000,000 people live—in Sewickley and Santa Monica, in Whitefish Bay, Machias and Arlington.

Suburbia became a communications center... an intelligence service... a reporter whose beat is pleasant places.

Who Runs Schools?

Who runs schools?

The school committee? The superintendent?

Or is it nearly nobody, no central leadership due to lack of strength against factors such as well-meaning PTA groups, political patronage, former athletes, zealous parents, religious organizations.

This is the startling revelation, appearing in this month's issue of the News Letter of the Massachusetts Ass'n of School Committees which quotes Professor Neal Gross of Harvard University, author of a recent book on the subject.

We quote the News Letter:

"The report is based on confidential interviews with 50% of the school superintendents and their school board members in the state of Massachusetts where the system is typical of many others in the nation. Nearly 20% of the superintendents believed their own school boards were a major obstacle to carrying out their work in a professional manner.

"Some school board members admitted their jobs were political-patronage posts and 9% confessed their primary interest was in gaining political experience. According to their superintendents, 21% was a closer estimate.

"Well-meaning PTA members, teachers' organizations, and religious groups are high on the list of those who agitate, often at cross-purposes. As many as 58% of the superintendents were pressured to give more emphasis to the athletic program while 40% of the superintendents were urged to do the opposite.

"Implicit behind many of these pressures is the threat of being fired should the superintendent fail to conform. Since he is usually caught in the middle, little wonder that 20% of the superintendents' wives want them to change their jobs.

Dr. Gross seeks out concrete remedies for the many shortcomings uncovered here.

"As possible ways to realize better school administration, he cites corrective legislation, clearer communication with parents and other citizens, and overcoming community apathy and ignorance."

When you add up these percentages—admittedly in one direction—it is possible to come to the conclusion that it is possible in many communities that the school system can become subservient to many ideas and aims—other than just education.

TO THE VOTERS:

Don't ever think that your vote doesn't count. If many more jump into this year's race, the first person to get votes will be the winner.

That Man About Town

By MAT

Without doubt, the stales of the week is that there will be about 32 candidates running for various Town offices, come next March.

However, just by chance that you haven't heard, Selectman Franklin W. Hurd will not run for re-election. There is only one opening on that Board for 1959. So, there will be quite a scramble!

The other day we heard two discussing politics: Mr. A—Do you know So and So?

Mr. B—Sure!

Mr. A—Hope your going to give him your vote.

Mr. B—Yes. He's a good boy—he don't bother nobody!

Mr. A nodded happily because he'd nailed down a sure vote for his candidate. After all, what better recommendation for public office could there be?

Usually, there are not too many candidates. The inclination is to jump to attention whenever a new name is mentioned. This year MAT can just sit back and tick 'em off as candidates announce publicly or "take out papers."

No names to search for, Boys—no, not in '59; Not until you ask for That sign on the dotted line!

We read that Rep. Thomas J. Doherty, candidate for Secretary of State, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has lined up a dozen or so votes on Beacon Hill. Sure bet! One of them is not Senator C. Eugene Farnam!

One axiom in politics is to aim high, never too low; after all miracles can happen only if you give 'em a chance!

Incidentally, we understand Sen. Farnam made a solid impression recently as the speaker at the local Arlington Rotary club.

Don't be caught reading Suburbia Today, publicly. Your pix might be taken by the Advocate's Roving Eye. What a New Year! Already!!

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

I am very much interested to know why there are special privileges granted to certain individuals on all night street parking?

I have watched a certain car on Revere st. and not once has it been taken off of the street. There has been at least six parking tickets on this car but the next night it is right back in the same area parked.

After inquiring around as to whom the party was I was told that the car belonged to a relative of one of our police officers. I think if it is fair for one to use the streets as a garage it is fair for the rest of us taxpayers. I would like to have this privilege extended to me and not have to pay for removal of snow, or rip the rear end out of my car trying to get into my garage. Lets face it what is fair for one is fair for all of us taxpayers. How about it may we park our cars on the street, too?

(Letter signed; name withheld by request—Ed.)

SNOW SOLUTION

To the Editor:

An abutter on a street with a steep grade faces a serious problem under slippery to impossible traction conditions for autos.

Numerous Arlington streets entail this condition, but often for short stretches which would be easy of relief with careful ploughing or sanding; or both.

To many citizens private transportation today is an economic necessity.

At the same time, they face taxes which are becoming intolerable and these include such unpredictable expenditures as those for snow removal, as their basis.

Citizens have to exercise judgement consistent with their incomes in their affairs. We have a town management system, which presumably is to put the affairs of the community on as sound an economic basis as is humanly possible.

Snow removal is not only a traffic, but an economic, hazard. It is not a simple problem to solve, but we can put our wits to it.

Perhaps one suggestion herewith would at least mitigate the costs which hit us like the unexpected medical bills. Our idea is a selective process of snow clearance and sanding.

Where streets are level, they need little plowing unless the fall of snow is very heavy. Cars themselves take care of wearing down the snow and traction is not too much of a problem.

Even on the hilly streets, a selective process of sanding might be effective. A car that gets rolling can keep going up a moderate incline.

At any rate, the police cars are around at frequent intervals. They could spot special conditions where trouble lies and call for help. We have seen instances.

Just for example, there is a situation at Pleasant and Gray Streets.

The grade is steep and cars have little chance for a good start up. If the first 100 or 150 feet, maybe, were well sanded in slippery times, cars would get rolling and keep going.

As to sidewalk plowing, that is undoubtedly essential to keep children off streets where traffic is heavy. Otherwise, in the interests of reasonable economy, it is hardly necessary.

To sum up, maybe we can find some practical plan for obviating rash expense and still mitigate the transportation problem of our citizens.

Yours very truly,
Carl G. Fowler

Behind the Business Scene

by REYNOLDS KNIGHT

"Behind the Scenes"

New York, Dec. 15 — "Helios," a chemical and nuclear spaceship envisioned for interplanetary travel, may be ten years and millions of dollars away.

But plastic model kits of Helios soon will be available for assembly by space-minded youngsters at $1.98 a copy. The model kit business has zoomed to a $75-million share of the $1.5-billion Americans spend annually on toys.

Assembling the models from pre-cut parts appeals to boys from 6 to 16, say the kit makers. Adults are said to make up 40 per cent of the market, with many a father taking over an unfinished Nautilus submarine or Bomarc missile and finding it interesting relaxation.

COLOR COUP —After years of hiding in dark corners, hall closets and kitchen nooks, the telephone came out into the open when it became available in popular colors. Now it has been joined by the inexpensive desk-pen, generally a desk-side companion of the telephone.

A new line of popular-price "telephone color" fountain pen and ballpoint desk sets has been introduced by the Sheaffer Pen Company, providing complete color coordination of the two communications media on desk-top at home or office.

THINGS TO COME —An electric hair-cutting kit contains a magnetic clipper with a Swedish steel blade and an attachment for crew cuts. A new adhesive for fabrics, paper, leather, plastics and other materials is applied, then permitted to dry, after which heat is introduced to effect a permanent bond. A transparent coating that will keep silver and brass sparkling for months at a time permits objects to be washed with mild soap and water without sacrificing the protection.

FACT, NOT FICTION — Republic Aviation Corporation, which not long ago announced it was "shooting for the moon" with $35 million of its own money, has given signs that there's fact, not fiction, in its astronautical designs.

Recently there was a technical breakthrough on a Republic lab prototype of a plasma engine for space ship propulsion. Then the Air Force awarded the jet maker a $134,000 study contract to develop surface finishes for aircraft, missiles and spacecraft capable of withstanding the boiling temperatures of Mach 5 flight (at 2500 mps these can hit 2400 degrees F.). Then from the Air Materiel Command came a $272,000 contract for five development programs for methods of handling, forming, welding and fabricating such hypersonic aircraft and spacecraft metals as titanium, Inconel X and high-strength chrome steel.

Now, another technical mile stone! Republic claims it has developed a hydraulic system capable of functioning at 20 to 1000 degrees F. Significant is the fact that such systems will be needed to operate the controls of space ships when they encounter temperatures up to 3000 degrees upon re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

COUNTER ATTACK —Some restaurants are resisting the national credit-card move. They claim the seven per cent commission assessed by the card companies for billing a customer eats substantially into their profits. Many now accept the credit cards as a reference, but do the billing themselves. Others issue their own cards. Some eateries have imposed a five per cent surcharge on credit-card customers to help offset the commission.

Despite this, the big national credit firms boast expanding lists of members. Hotel chains and hotel associations, meanwhile, are issuing their own cards to regular clients. In the case of the hotel chains, the cards are merely a formality, since steady customers, once having established credit, usually could arrange in advance to be billed for rooms and meals.

BITS O' BUSINESS —Increased demand from electric utilities and the steel and cement industries, is expected to help boost soft coal output in 1959 to 455 million tons, which would be 13.8 per cent above 1958.

Money Spent For Clothes Drops

How much does your family spend for their clothing each year? Do you know? Or do you just wish you knew? Clothing takes a large or a small proportion of your budget, depending on the age of the family members their activities, and the importance they place on their wardrobe.

Over the years there has been a decline in the percentage of income which the average family spends on clothing, says Virginia Davis, extension clothing specialist, University of Massachusetts.

Ten years ago the average family spent 12 per cent of its total income on clothing. Today, statistics show that clothing and accessories account for only about 9 per cent of the average family budget.

There are several reasons for this decline Miss Davis explains. Clothing is no longer considered the prestige item it once was. We now judge a family's economic standing by the size of the automobile and number of appliances and equipment they have in their home.

We live in warmer homes, we have better fabrics and we have better means of transportation than we did even ten years ago. This means that we do not need as much heavy clothing to protect us from the elements.

Our living today is far more informal in general, than it was a few years ago. We have more flexible wardrobes which contain garments that can be worn for many different occasions and activities and fewer special-occasion costumes.

Today's fabrics wear longer. This combined with modern methods of home laundering and drying, also makes fewer replacements of clothing necessary.

Must File Income At VA

Approximately 23,000 disabled veterans and widows of veterans in Massachusetts who receive monthly pension payments are being reminded by the Veterans Administration to report their annual income promptly and thus avoid the risk of having their payments stopped.

William J. Blake, manager of the VA regional office at Boston, said that VA is now mailing to all pension recipients a tabulating card upon which the income report may be made. Pensions cease if the income of a single individual exceeds $1400, or $2700 if the recipient has dependents. Regulations require payment to be stopped if the income report is not received within 30 days.

He warned that the tabulating card will be processed mechanically when it is returned and that cutting, folding or otherwise mutilating it will delay the recording of the information and risk a cut-off in payments.

No income questionnaire is sent to veterans or dependents receiving service-connected compensation.

T R S' Boys Win Over Father

Now that Christmas trees are a mere limp memory and are out on sidewalks for the rubbish man, here is an interesting tale:

Teddy Roosevelt almost rode roughshod over the Christmas tree in his drive to conserve the nation's forests. But two little boys put the Christmas spirit and the tree back in the White House.

The Christmas tree was well-established in the United States when TR became president.

Research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia say a Harvard professor named Charles Follen set up one of the first known trees in America 1832.

President Franklin Pierce put up a tree in the White House in the 1850's to entertain the Sunday school of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. And President Benjamin Harrison continued the custom in the 1890's.

But some modern-day Scrooges convinced Roosevelt that the cutting of Christmas trees would soon deplete the nation's forests. TR promptly banned the tradition at the White House.

However, the old Roughrider forgot to consult his young sons, Archie and Quentin, who cared little about presidential edicts and less about conservation. They smuggled a tree into the mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue and set it up in Archie's room.

The president relented, and ever since, the White House has had an indoor Christmas tree.

TR's concession also sent the Christmas tree industry soaring beyond the dreams of one of its founders—a Catskill farmer who brought his trees to market in New York City in 1851. And it helped pave the way for a new custom—the community Christmas tree.

In 1924, a Norway spruce was planted near the White House and later dedicated as "a national living Christmas tree."

Reaching 267 feet into the sky from a base 40 feet thick, the tree is the second largest in the world.

Two years later, a giant California redwood in King's Canyon national park, named General Grant after the Civil War hero, was dedicated as the "Nation's Christmas Tree."

Every year, nearby townspeople and visitors join in a holiday service and sing carols at the base of the sequoia, which was growing on the mountain slope when Christ was born in Bethlehem.

Furcolo Cuts Education Budget

Governor Foster Furcolo slashed $7,000,000 out of the $48,000,000 budget submitted to him by his Department Heads for Educational purposes for Massachusetts during the coming fiscal year.

Although education is one state service which the professors at the University of Massachusetts, the State teachers colleges and technical schools, and the directors of other forms of instruction say is closest to the Governor's heart, he explained that he has no other choice. "The State simply does not have the money," the Governor said.

The Governor said he must cut every single item that can be delayed because of the necessity of making ends meet and carrying on the barest services unless new sources of revenue can be found to finance additional expenses without placing an added burden on the taxpayers owning homes and other real estate.

The Governor eliminated 342 out of the 431 new positions requested by the State Department of Education.

This represents a saving of $1,700,000 in the Budget.

The Governor said that this is not the end. He is still whittling away with the objective of making further cuts where possible. Out of the 360 jobs requested by the President and Trustees of the University of Massachusetts, the Governor knocked out 259; new positions to save over another million dollars for the taxpayers.

While he is committed to the expansion of the Lowell Technological Institute, the Governor cut out 35 new jobs requested by the school authorities to save another $180,000.

In these three instances alone, the Governor has slashed nearly $3,000,000 which educators contended was necessary for 636 new jobs.

The Governor is continuing his private program to raise a $1,000,000 for scholarships for worthy and needy students. The money to come from individual and corporate benefactors instead of the taxpayers.

Who Pays The Property Tax?

Homeowners of Massachusetts, including the owner-occupants of 2-family and larger dwelling structures, pay not less than half of the total property tax, studies made by the Taxpayers Federation reveal.

For the year just concluded, 1958, this amounted to more than $300 million.

More than one third of the total Massachusetts property tax is paid by the owners of single family homes, the Federation adds.

Bay State business on the other hand pays a surprising 35 percent of the total tax bill. This is pointed out because there is little likelihood that business property accounts for much over 25 percent of the actual market value of taxable property in Massachusetts.

The explanation of this development lies in two factors. First, higher valuations are consistently placed by local assessors on so-called income properties, particularly retail and utility properties. The second reason is due to the concentration of business property in urban centers with their traditionally higher tax levels. This combination results in the exaggerated tax bills paid by Bay State business.

The reverse side of this particular coin shows that the percentage total of taxes paid by residential property owners—slightly in excess of 60 percent—understates the proportion of residential property to all property on a full value basis, a figure which probably lies in the 65 to 70 percent range.

This bias in favor of residential property reflects the local assessors' solicitude for the homeowner and rent-paying voter, and his implicit faith in the taxpayer's ability of business.

This is one of a series of presentations of the taxpayers' view on matters before the Massachusetts Legislature.

Wishes For New "Year"

"In the face of our times, I can't wish you a 'Happy New Year' and stop there. I must wish for more much more."

I wish more businessmen understood that human profits are the only lasting profits.

I wish labor understood that the cause of labor is served only when the general welfare is served.

I wish the press were as responsible as it is free.

I wish schools were such that children liked to go, saw purpose in their going and upon leaving felt prepared for what lies ahead.

I wish the insecure millions who are failed by the schools, untouched by the church and unwanted by our social and economic system could be made welcome in our democracy.

I wish the people of America so loved our hills and streams, our trees and meadows that our children would be assured a rich heritage of natural resources.

I wish America's heart were big enough and her foot steps steady enough to let the peoples of the world know she will not desert them.

I wish America understood that world leadership cannot be bought with dollars, that it has to be earned by sharing ideas and dreams by hard work, by sacrifice.

I wish for world leaders with vision, and courage, and unselfish purposes.

I wish for peace so we may have one more chance to realize our hope to make life better for all people.

I pray that the New Year may bring more faith and love to the world's millions; that the Spirit of Christmas may once again be the spirit which dares men to be their best selves. I pray that each of us may find the strength and conviction to do his part."

—William E. Goalin

Welcome Season
At AHS Assembly

Nearly 100 students took part in two Christmas assemblies at the high school Dec. 23 to welcome the Christmas season.

Featuring the girls' choir in one and the mixed chorus in the other, the assemblies attracted many alumni as well as most of the student body. The programs included both classical and light music.

The assemblies opened with a Bible reading of the Christmas story, at the first by Paul Bicknell, and at the second by Peter Staiti. These boys also served as masters of ceremony, introducing the numbers.

At the first assembly the girls' choir of 45 voices sang Graf's "Nativity Carol", the Burgundian air "Patapan", Bohn's "Angels of Peace", and Vincent's "There were Shepherds in the Field", with Joan Caldwell soloist in the latter number.

Featured number was the singing of "Christmas Night" and "White Christmas" by the popular feminine sextet, the Harmonettes, composed this year of Joyce Plummer, Diane Thompson, Nanci Dalton, Marcia Rugg, Linda Bretschger and Carol Pascarella.

At the second assembly the mixed chorus of 48 voices and Bach's "Break Forth, O Beutiful Heavenly Light", Mozart's "Little Bells", Wilson's "What Child is This?", and Darby's "Twas the Night Before Christmas". Featured in this assembly was a new singing group known as the Queens, like the Harmonettes a feminine sextet.

It was composed of Joan Caldwell, Katherine Grannon, Barbara Kerr, Gail Hodgdon, Perla Horne and Karen Jacobson.

Miss Martha Weston played Gounod's "Ave Maria" as a violin solo at both assemblies, familiar carols were sung by the entire group, and the school orchestra was featured in Anderson's "Sleighride", "Winter Wonderland" and "Let It Snow."

Each assembly closed with the English folk song, "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

CHATS and SPATS

"WORDS" . . . . .
The Lord giveth, and He taketh away.
He soweth good. . . not evil;
Evil into good. . . with no dismay.
He salts the earth. . . yet doth fill
The precious mill with grain.
He bakes the soil in torrid
heat
Only to let life spring forth
with the rain.
Think not that the Lord turns in defeat
Away from sorrow, illness or meager task.
Each one ere it be to our fancy or nay. . .
Leaves us not to calmly
bask. . .
But, to learn to take it in faith today Thereby tomorrow will be a richer one
Because, it was. . . well done.
M. M. Spofford

Get A Damp Cloth.
SAY THERE GAL! You
did yourself proud with that sweet Christmas poem, "A Question." It was very sweet and similar to the questions
I was asked this Christmas.
It grows harder and harder to explain that Christmas is Jesus' birthday and not all presents and partying. I don't begrudge anyone living but what has happened to the
"SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS"?
Well all of you; take a long hard look at the bills coming in now what kind of
"SPIRIT" reigned in your home this year?
Welcome back, GET A DAMP CLOTH it's been far too long an absence. What are your plans for the New Year? Say, you don't happen to have a recipe for Corn Flake Pudding do you? Does anyone? I'm desperate! I have a very hard to get along with in-law coming for a stay and all he eats is corn flake pudding so I hear.

Come back to stay now that the holidays have passed. Happy New Year.
Little Pepper

GALS

HELP! As never before I need you and your most able advice!

Christmas was very surprised with a knock on the door at eleven-thirty one night and who should be there but my husbands' great-uncle. He is a dear old soul and was wonderful company for a couple of days. But, now he has completely taken over the house! I have uncle Harrys' this or that all over the place, but, if it is moved one inch he notices it. (I tried it!). An apple could rot on a table but, if I touched it the blessed roof would fall in! Please help me someone!
How can I tell the old man Christmas is over and that he could make the trip from whence he came?
Pot Luck

Serenity.

Thank you so very much for your Christmas Greetings you were sweet to think of me. I'm afraid that I didn't send mine in time to make print. But, I do wish that you will have a wonderful New Year, and may all of your dreams come true.
Little Pepper

A Dabster.

I'll bet that you were very busy over the holidays, and now find yourself in the after the holiday slump. I gage you from me. I am busy all the time too and find myself fighting to see the dawns bright light.

I've started doing something that I've done half-heartedly almost all year;
and that is reading meditations for five minutes in the morning and before I retire at night. And do you know something? IT WORKS! I have the thoughts transmitted to my tired, holiday worn mind and they come back to me as I work around the house or drive in the car, or almost any place. I've let up a little to on my outside activities and that has helped more than I want to admit!

Hope to hear from you again! Don't stay away too long! Have a wonderful year.
Mother of Two

Serenity.

Your wonderful letter was forwarded by our editor and I can't tell you how much I enjoyed reading it again. It fit POLLY more than it fit
my dear late husband; although it certainly was wonderful then too. You are so thoughtful. That is one trait that profoundly binds this column together.

Thank you for your concern. That too is something that touches me through and through. How can people who have never met become so close and so interested in each others welfare? I am doing very well. I have tried a new therapy; well, new in scope. I have started to write the story of POLLY. A DAB-STER mentioned once that children have a acceptance few adults possess. That is going to be one of the points brought out. She was strength to me in life, and strange as it may seem, she is still my strength. Her last days were beautiful ones,
though heartbreaking for us.
She seemed to understand and in her way she herself prepared us!

Have a very Happy year.
Bless you and your tender heart.
Lone Star

Student Council Host To Foreign Students

Arlington High's five foreign students were guests of honor at a reception and tea held in the new cafeteria at the school recently.

Members of the faculty were invited to meet the visitors, since in most cases they would not have them in class.

Guests were Albert Hasibuan of Bandung, Indonesia, exchange student here under sponsorship of the council, and four students now making their homes here, Miss Maryke Peper from The Hague, Netherlands, Teodor
Taranovski from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and a brother and sister, Peter and Judith Lassovsky from Budapest, Hungary.

John Allen, president of the council, greeted visitors at the door, and Claire Rob-bat, vice president, headed the receiving line.

Members of the council served as ushers, and the pourers were Betty Boroyan, June Beggan, Barbara Lind
and Kay Corbin.

Miss Florence Forsyth,
Mrs. Josephine Lee, Mrs.
Effie McEwen and Miss Mary Green of the home economics department, assisted by members of the home economics classes prepared and served Christmas refreshments.

The tea was arranged under the leadership of Miss Thera-sa Binning, dean of girls and advisor to the student council.

Shop Unique Is Arlington Institution

One of Arlington's most popular establishments is The Shop Unique. The driving force behind the growth and success of this business is Mrs. Katherine Tracy Callahan, the owner.

During her full life Mrs. Callahan has excelled in three distinctly separate careers. First she was a school teacher. After marriage she gave up teaching and devoted all her time and energy to raising her family.

Finally, almost 21 years ago, she opened The Shop Unique.

What prompted her to go into this particular type of business? "Friends owned a gift shop in another community. I visited their shop and became interested in such a venture," says Mrs. Callahan.

Mrs. Callahan employs seven women at The Shop Unique. Each is most helpful in assisting customers to select the most suitable gifts and cards for any and all occasions.

Almost every conceivable type of choice gifts, both imported and domestic merchandise parallel the quality found in the finest shoppes in Boston. Among the most popular gifts are china, glassware, lamps, bric-a-brac, figurines, religious statues, and stationary.

In addition, thousands of greeting cards for all occasions are displayed.

Pet Shop Began As Home Hobby

Airplanes and fish. That's the combination that Carmine J. Collotti has parlayed into a highly successful business venture.

While working for Northeast Airlines "Cal" lent an unused aquarium to a co-worker. When the aquarium was returned it had fish in it. Fish became Cal's hobby and that hobby turned into the Belmont Pet Shop.

Animal accessories, foods, and equipment are also available to animal lovers. The Belmont Pet Shop is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday.

Hundreds Aided By Miss Lillian

Electrolysis: controlled electric current, creating heat which permanently destroys unwanted hair cells. The Arlington Studio of Electrolysis has applied this process to aid hundreds of women.

Miss Lillian, owner of the studio is a graduate of the Kree Institute of Electrolysis in New York. She developed her interest in electrolysis after talking with a niece, who also maintains a studio.

Miss Lillian has lived in Arlington for over 33 years. Her studio, located at 432 Mass. Ave., has been in operation for 12 years.

Milla's Garden Center Leads N. E.

"Under the spreading chestnut tree, the village blacksmith stands" is the opening line of a famous poem. Frank Milla is capable of seeing to the needs of the blacksmith shop and the chestnut tree. In his native Italy Milla was the village blacksmith, and a good one.

When he arrived in the United States in 1936 Milla found little opportunity to ply his trade. Automobiles not horses, were the means of travel.

And so, Frank Milla turned to landscaping.

In 1945 he and a partner opened a small store opposite Arlington High School. Later he became sole owner of the company.

Still located at 682 Massachusetts Avenue, Milla's Garden Center is now the largest in the New England area. Its modern building is only three years old, but further expansion is planned.

Every conceivable item can be found here. Power mowers, plants, seeds, all are featured products at Milla's.

Hard work, perseverance, and constant attention to the needs of his customers have been responsible for Milla's success with the Garden Center. His reputation has long since outgrown the boundaries of Arlington.

Long before he opened his Nursery Center, Milla had won a reputation for his landscaping abilities. And it has stood him in good stead.

People who heard of his work during the early 1940's never forgot. Whenever they have a question regarding their landscaping, they come to Frank Milla for an answer. And he has never let them down.

Thus Milla's has become more than just a Nursery Center. It has become a legend come true. . . the dream of every immigrant that America is the land of opportunity and success can be won on a man's merits.

Married, Milla is the father of five children.

"Under the spreading chestnut tree, the village blacksmith stands." For the owner of Milla's Garden Center it's no problem to take care of either or both.

Miss Conn is a senior at the University's School of Public Relations and Communications where she is majoring in journalism. She is president of Alpha Delta Phi Sorority, and a member of Chi Gamma Epsilon honorary activity.

In 1956 she was a candidate for Miss B.U. and Debate Tournay Princess. She has served as a High School Day Usher for four years and is presently associate editor of the School of Public Relations and Communications News.

Scarlet Key is designed to honor students for outstanding leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities. Student candidates are nominated by Key members, administrative personnel and guidance counselors through the University.

In order to be honored a student must have a cumulative grade index of at least 2.3.

Gas Tax

The proposed increase in the federal gasoline tax could well be the tax that breaks the motorists' back, according to the Automobile Legal Association.

Paul Thibodeau, Secretary of the ALA, said that American car owners have been getting closer and closer to the breaking point for many years and the proposed 1 and one half cent increase might not only accomplish this but may have "disastrous effects on the American economy as well."

"When the average American can no longer afford to drive one of the current gas-eating monsters, he will turn in huge numbers to the smaller, more economical foreign cars in order to have transportation of any kind, and a definite trend in this direction has already started," said Thibodeau.

Also on the horizon for most motorists is an increase in the various state gasoline taxes.

"We can see no need for any additional gas taxes, either federal or state, until these government agencies stop the diversion of highway funds for other than highway purposes" he said.

Town Topic

—Mr. and Mrs. Hy Garber and son Fred spent the holidays in Miami Fla., a vacation from activities at Garber's Yarn Shop and the Arlex Auto Driving school.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How prayer and watchfulness brings freshness and newness into human experience will be a topic presented at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Passages to be read from the Bible include the following from Psalms (51:10): "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (4:17-22): "Simply asking that we may love God will never make us love Him; but the longing to be better and holier, expressed in daily watchfulness and in striving to assimilate more of the divine character, will mould and fashion us anew, until we awake in His likeness."

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (13:16): "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

Tuller are to be discussion leaders for Wednesday evening's meeting of Bible Study Group I with Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wilson in charge of refreshments.

Parker Wood Authors Masonic Pageant; Receives High Award

W. Parker Wood, former editor of the Advocate wrote and directed the pageant-drama commemorating the 225th anniversary of the founding of Masonry in the United States. He is clerk of the Advocate Corporation.

The dramatic production, entitled "In The Beginning", premiered at John Hancock Hall on Dec. 27.
Grand Lodge officers from 47 states and Canada gathered in Boston for a three-day celebration of the founding of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge of Masons, oldest in the western hemisphere.

The 225th anniversary fete began Dec. 27 with the Feast of St. John the Evangelist, traditional anniversary date of Free Masonry, whose patrons are St. John the Evangelist and St. John the Baptist.

Re-enact Founding

Boston Scottish Rite Masons on Saturday night in John Hancock hall re-enacted the founding of the Grand Lodge as it took place July 30, 1733, at the Bunch of Grapes Tavern on the site that is now 53 State st.

The pageant-drama portrayed events in the life of Henry Price, founder and first grand master.

Third oldest in the world, the Massachusetts Grand Lodge was chartered by the Grand Lodge of England, the world's first Grand Lodge, founded in 1717. The Massachusetts lodge was preceded by the Grand Lodge of Ireland, founded in 1725.

Play Is Praised

These facts and many more were revealed in the historical play "In The Beginning," as written and directed by Wood, a 32nd degree mason.

"The magnificent colonial costumes, the speaking voice of narrator, Arthur S. Hall, the superb performance of John N. Hall as Henry Price supported by an excellent cast, made for a pageantry long to be remembered, as events in the life of Price unfolded," a Grand Lodge officer said.

Mrs. Ernest R. Llewellyn and Mrs. James E. Horrigan Jr., both of Arlington, had speaking parts (off stage) as the first and second wives of Henry Price. Leon Pickering, a member of the Arlington Friends of the Drama, portrayed an important role.

Price Had Home Here

The play has a further local interest, not only because the author is the son of Mrs. Harold B. Wood and the late Mr. Wood but also because Henry Price, had his summer residence in Menotomy in 1750's, history says.

Preceding the second performance on Dec. 30 Andrew G. Jenkins, Grand Master of Boston Scottish Rite Masons, summoned Mr. Wood to front stage, where he presented him the Joseph Warren medal of Honor, one of the highest honors in Masonry.
"In The Beginning" is to be repeated several times in the near future.

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

By Herb Mason

How much stock do you place in recent "scare" articles stating that our trend toward more riding and less walking is leading to a nation of weak legs and soft feet?

Physical conditioning is a very open and shut subject. You, as a physical specimen, are as strong or weak as your daily activities tend to make you (barring unfortunate outside factors relating to your health). Those working in heavy physical labor are usually strong muscled based on type of work. If heavy lifting is your forte, then your arm muscles are "hard as rocks". If climbing, and continuous walking or running are involved, then the leg muscles are further developed and the feet toughened up in turn.

My average 15 miles per week on the golf course have given me leg muscles, and tough feet that usually are denied a person working indoors all week long. Of this I am happy, as I believe as do many others, that we are getting soft, and this will show up in the weaker legs and feet of generations to come.
Why, even the golfer is taking to caddymobiles, and will soon perhaps, have a mechanism to swing the club for him.

Town Starts Voter List

The Town Clerk's office announced last week that arrangements have been completed by the Registrars of Voters for the annual listing—beginning on Friday, Jan. 2, 1959—of every person, both male and female, twenty years of age or older, including those who are away from home temporarily serving in the armed forces, attending school or college, working out of town, confined in a hospital or other institution, on vacation, traveling or visiting, whose places of legal residence on January 1, 1959, are in Arlington.

Because of the nature of the information to be obtained—as appearing in the legal notice on Page 1 of this issue—it will be impossible for the Assistant Registrars to get complete and accurate reports unless direct contact is made with some member of each family who is competent to supply it.

The canvass of the Town is to be made systematically by precinct and in the shortest possible time consistent with thoroughness, accuracy and full compliance with all regulations and directions.

The law provides that every occupant of a building who, when asked, refuses or neglects to give full and true information within his or her knowledge relating to persons residing in such building is liable to be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year.

In accordance with Chapter 140, Section 150 of the General Laws, as amended, Assistant Registrars are also required to list all dogs owned or kept as of January 1, 1959 by residents of the Town of Arlington.

Householders are requested to anticipate the visit of the Assistant Registrars and to have the desired information ready—so that any unnecessary delay in compiling the final statistics may be avoided.

ROTC Pledge Night

Fifty Northeastern University R.O.T.C. cadets took part in a pledge night at Fort Devens Friday, December 19, held annually by Pershing Rifles, the University's ROTC drill team.

The pledges were given an infiltration problem designed to acquaint them with the compass and to give them an opportunity to display leadership qualities.

Among the pledges participating in the program was Jason A. Sokolov, 100 Varnum street, Arlington.

—About 10,500 meals a day will be served to the crew of 3,500, aboard the Navy's newest 60,000 ton giant aircraft carrier USS Independence.

Doyle Promoted

Cadet David F. Doyle, son of Mrs. Ellen A. Doyle, of 72 Everett st., has been promoted to the rank Colonel in the AFROTC Cadet Group at Tufts University. Cadet Doyle has been assigned the position of Group Commander.

The primary aim of the AFROTC program is to train qualified college men to be officers in the U.S. Air Force. Of equal importance is their understanding of the influence of the air and space age on the democratic way of life.

Cadet Doyle, a senior majoring in Mechanical Engineering, will be commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force upon graduation from the University. Upon entering active duty, he will be trained as a pilot.

Cadet Doyle is very active in AFROTC activities, a member of the Arnold Air Society, the national cadet honor organization, and has been selected as Tufts' first Distinguished AFROTC Cadet

Students At Work

Teenagers really make an impression on the town's economy.

This is made clear by a survey recently completed by the Guidance Department at Arlington High which discloses that high school students are earning a total of over $7300 a week.

Nearly 28% of the students are employed on a part time basis, the lowest proportion since the study was started in 1953.

In past years the figure has been 30 to 33%.

The workers are, however, earning an average of nearly $17 a week, four dollars more than five years ago for the same number of hours of work.

Over 53% of those working put in from 11 to 20 hours a week, and another 28% work 21 to 30 hours, slightly over 4% put in over 30 hours, and about 15% put in less than 10 hours.

Two pupils work over 40 hours a week outside of school.

The average working time for all those employed is 18 hours, with average pay $16.74.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wheatley Jr. (Mona Meyers) of 9 Mott st. a daughter, Linda Anne, Dec. 17 at Leonard Morse hospital, Natick. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wheatley of 99 Mt. Vernon st. and Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Meyers of Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

Woman At Ice Base? My!

ANTARCTICA — Feminine charms now grace Antarctica in the person of pretty, pint-sized Miss North Kingston. The first "lady" to land on the desolate, frozen continent is vacationing at the McMurdo Sound Air Facility.

The petite blond was assisted aboard a Navy P2V aircraft by the crew members in Quonset Point, R.I., home base for the Navy's Air Development Squadron -6.

Miss Kingston was escorted to the seat in the transparent bulb of the plane's nose section and started the 12,670 mile re-supply flight to the Antarctic. Dressed in a firehouse red bathing suit, the "first lady of the Antarctic" drew attention wherever the plane landed—Alameda, Calif. Honolulu, Hawaii; Canton Island; Nandi on Fiji Island; and Christchurch, New Zealand.

The new member of the wintering over party at McMurdo is not likely to flutter the hearts of the lonely Navy-men and scientists at the bottom of the world, however, as she is a department store mannequin.
